A long time ago, in a galaxy far, far away, the little planet Llednevir in the star system Snilloc Trof sent out a plea for other inhabited planets to share their advanced technology. This signal is just now being received by the four closest planets. Each is mobilizing to help Llednevir get the tech tools they need to advance the children of their civilization:

- ★ State-of-the-art wireless network
- ★ Faster classroom & lab computers
- ★ More mobile computing resources (lap tops) & smart phone access
- ★ Powerful collaboration & communication tools: on-line calendars, voice/video communications tools, development of individual classroom web sites, database management. etc.

The inhabitants of these nine planets (classrooms) will race to help Llednevir secure this new technology.
